CREVE COEUR AND OLIVETTE FIREFIGHTERS AND POLICE OFFICERS HONORED AT AUCTION

MARCH 2017

Each year our chamber presents awards to Creve Coeur and Olivette firefighters and police officers to show its gratitude for the service these heroes play in our lives every day. Here are their stories:

Patrolman Madison Coates Olivette Police Department

Officer Coates was honored for his exemplary initiative and teamwork in the apprehension of three burglary suspects and the recovery of several pieces of stolen property.

Officer Doug Manning Creve Coeur Police Department

Officer Manning was commended for his dedication to building a stronger relationship between the police department and the community as the Department's Crime Prevention Officer.

Lieutenant Rich Garrett Olivette Fire Department

Lieutenant Garrett was recognized for his tireless dedication to serving the community while taking on the added responsibilities as the shift officer.

Firefighter/Paramedic Nikolas Kimbel Creve Coeur Fire Protection District

Firefighter/Paramedic Kimbel was recognized for his exceptional level of training, expertise and dedication to service of the citizens and first responders of the region, state, and country.

Speaker: David Berczek, Chief of Corporate Communications
Topic: National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency

The National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency (NGA) has been in the news recently as the spy agency is moving from one location in St. Louis to another. But what exactly does the NGA do? According to its website, anyone who sails a U.S. ship, flies a U.S. aircraft, makes national policy decisions, fights wars, locates targets (think Osama bin Laden), responds to natural disasters, or even navigates with a cellphone relies on NGA. Come hear about the work NGA does in general terms (without any classified information being divulged).
